On August 25, 2020, CQENS Technologies Inc. was issued United States Patent 10,750,787 by the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office for a Heat-not-Burn Device and Method. The patent covers the technology behind the proprietary CQENS System, a device and method for the inductive heating of a variety of consumable formulations and the subsequent production of an aerosol leading to the effective inhalation of the consumable's constituents. This is accomplished without combustion or the accompanying constituents of combustion. The Company believes its technology differs from other similar technologies currently on the market because it is a high temperature, non-combustion system, unlike low temperature, non-combustion systems available today.
